WM. L. STEVENS, Proprietor.

The proprietor has the pleasure to announce that he has completely re-fitted, re-modeled and refurnished, this pleasant and favorite Hotel, and can now furnish ample and excellent accommodations to the traveler and such guests as may honor him with their patronage. The offices pleasant and spacious, and all the sleeping apartments newly and handsomely furnished, which cannot fail to please the most fastidious.

The stable is large and convenient, and attended by a faithful and experienced hostler. Having first class hacks and coaches, guests and other parties will be taken to the depots, steamboats, or to any part of the city. In short, the proprietor is determined to keep a hotel that will command the confidence and patronage of the appreciative public. A few boarders can be accomodated with pleasant rooms.

Hotel and Boarding House Notice.

THE Subscriber, at the earnest solicitation of many friends, has purchased the hotel in Orono, called the "Danaganuah Hotel" and having thoroughly repaired, refitted and put in new furniture will take special pains to keep a first class Public House, and a pleasant house for Boarders. He calls it

"The Orono House."

The house is large, commodious and centrally located, and those who please to give him a call, to come and make their home with him, will be kindly cared for and he ... to find good and clean beds, and a table spread with the best the market provides. He has also an excellent Ostler and good stable accommodations, with a livery attached.

The State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts is distant only a pleasant walk, and at this present time is in a prosperous condition ... out of the most healthy and delightful in Maine.

TO THE PUBLIC.

HAVING added unrivalled facilities to my works, and engaged the most skillful artists, I feel confident in guaranteeing to the public the execution of work that cannot be surpassed. I need not call your attention to the economy of Re-dyed Faded and Soiled Garments, but will add that recent discoveries in the art, have enabled us to dye most any fabric whatever. The material may be made to look as well as new. Among the many articles, I will mention the following:

Velvet, Satin, Silk, Crape, and Lace Shawls, Cloaks, and Capes of all descriptions.

Dresses composed of Silk, Cotton & Wool, Silk & Linen, Woolen & Cotton, and all Woolen & Cotton Goods.

Gentlemen's Garments Dyed in the most fashionable and durable colors, and also cleansed in a thorough manner.

... into the Androscoggin below Rumford Falls.

Also 1100 Acres Timber and Wood Land in Town of Gorham, N. H.

two miles above the Alpine House, on the line of the Grand Trunk Railroad, and the banks of the Androscoggin river. There is a large quantity of wood on these lots which, from its proximity to the Railroad is steadily increasing in value.

Also 2500 Acres Lands in the Towns of Albany and Stoneham.

near the village of North Waterford, Oxford County. This land is covered with thrifty sapling Pine timber, standing near Crooked river, which runs through the tract. Logs put into Crooked river can be run to Saccarappa, or by hauling four to five miles they can be put into the Saco. There is a good mill privilege, with a single saw mill on the tract; distance to the canal at Harrison ... miles, to the railroad at South Paris twelve miles. The land is valuable for settling purposes after being cleared of timber.

Also 435 Shares of Stock in the Lewiston Steam Mill Company, the whole capital stock being represented by 827 shares. The property of the company consists of a Steam Saw Mill, capable of manufacturing five million feet of long lumber, with a proportionate amount of clapboards, shingles and laths. About fifteen acres land in the city of Lewiston, well located for building purposes, and thirty thousand acres of timber land, well located on the Androscoggin river and its branches, from which but a small quantity of the timber has been cut.

CHAMBERLAIN MEETING.

According to the call published for several days past in the WHIG & COURIER, and extensively circulated in the form of a handbill, a meeting of those favorable to the election of Governor Chamberlain to the United States Senate was held in Norombega Hall on Saturday evening. About 450 were present, and after some excellent music on the balcony and stage by the Bangor Cornet Band, the meeting was called to order by Gen. S. F. Strickland, who read the call and nominated the following list of officers, who were elected:

S. H. DALE, Chairman.

F. A. Simpson, Carmel; Joseph M. Moore, Hermon; George P. Brown, Newburg, W. B. Ferguson, Dixmont; John Benson, Newport; Isaac Pierce, Etna; S. G. Butman, Plymouth; E. B. Stackpole, Kenduskeag; Simon G. Jerrard, Levant; David Barker, Exeter; N. H. Hubbard, Winterport; J. W. Patterson, Bucksport; Hiram T. Batchelder, Levi Emerson, Hampden; John W. Atwell, J. S. Hamilton, Orono; M. M. Folsom, Henry Brawn, Oldtown; Charles S. Weld, Greenbush; Isaac Dunning, F. G. Arey, Jefferson Chamberlain, Brewer; Charles Newcomb, Orrington; Nahum Warren, Samuel B. Gilman, Veazie; Charles B. Abbott, Wingate E. Gibbs, Glenburn; Charles W. Tilden, Castine; John B. Hopkins, Hudson Saunders, Ellsworth; George Dudley, Winterport.

Secretaries—J. Swett Rowe, C. P. Roberts, Whiting S. Clark, Bangor.

Mr. Dale, on taking the chair, made the following remarks:

Fellow Citizens and Republicans:

In accepting the honorable position assigned me this evening, allow me to congratulate you and the vast assemblage, on the favorable auspices under which we have gathered. It is not ordinary on the eve of a State election, that the people departing from the usual modes of expression, are willing to step outside that they may give expression to their wishes; and I know not in any way, better they can do so, than by gathering as we do this evening in mass convention.

We are not here to oppose but, to propose, to those whom we may elect as our Senators and Representatives, our choice of the man who should be the successor of the lamented Fessenden,—the man above all others who stood in the front ranks of Statesmen, and when you and I remember his visit to our city about one year ago, and who took so lively and personal interest in our welfare and success, and that of our State and nation, and also, remember the sadness his death cast upon us. It is refreshing that the people with one voice and one will, present to the incoming legislature the name of Gen. Joshua L. Chamberlain as the rightful successor of Wm. Pitt Fessenden. In presenting his name and urging his claims, we do so in no disparagement to the Hon. gentleman who is so ably filling out the unexpired term; but we do so in the belief that as a patriot and a statesman, Gen. Chamberlain stands second to none in our State. As a patriot he loved and served his country; as a statesman, he is versed in public affairs and the acts of government; as a scholar, his State papers are a model for all to imitate who may aspire to that position, and as a civilian in the more humble and quiet walks of life, he is just the man wanted to maintain tone and character to the high office of a Senator from the State of Maine.

In saying what are the qualifications of Gen. Chamberlain, we may add what he is not—he is not a politician; he is not a man of artful and deep contrivance and cunning; but one, who in all the walks of life, is eminently worthy of our hearty and generous support, and in presenting his name to this vast gathering, let me hope as the report comes to us today that as Napoleon has surrendered to King William of Prussia, so let the politicians quietly surrender to the wishes of the people, and give us on the 4th of March next, the Hon. Governor of our State, General Joshua L. Chamberlain, U. S. Senator, as the successor of Wm. Pitt Fessenden, and I will propose for him three hearty cheers.

Three cheers were then given.

On motion of John L. Crosby, the chair appointed the following committee on Resolutions:—John L. Crosby, F. A. Wilson and S. H. Blake, all of Bangor.

Hon. A. W. Paine, of Bangor was then called upon by the chair and took the stand.

He said that the call was unexpected, but he was very happy to be present at such a meeting, and would endeavor to do his duty. He was reminded of a scene in this city, four years ago, in which he took part when the people arose and nominated Gen. Chamberlain, for Governor the first time. Until then, General Chamberlain was unknown except by his military record. He came home to us covered with glory, from four years service in the army, during which time, he took part in twenty-four pitched battles, was under fire fifty times and had six bullets in his body. But he never lost a battle, and what is most remarkable never left a wounded soldier of his command on the field, or a dead soldier unburied. By his gallantry he saved the country at the battle of Gettysburg, and on all the fields on which he fought, he covered himself with glory. He received honors on the day of the surrender of Lee, which no other man received, in being placed at the head of the army to receive the surrender, and when he came home, we accorded him with universal consent, a place at the head of the State.

While in the army, Gen. Chamberlain got in a habit of winning battles, and that habit he still keeps and will keep. There is no such word as fail with Gen. Chamberlain.

We now ask to have him put on the course again. Why? not because he did his duty in the army or in the cabinet, but because he did it so well, we want to continue him. His competitor for office now holds his place because of the magnanimity of Governor Chamberlain, but he turns like the serpent of which we read, and stings his benefactor.

It is because he has done so well, I say, that we want Gov. Chamberlain for Senator. We want a live man in the Senate,—one who will be a credit to the State and what better proof of his ability to fill that place do we need, than his record during the past four years of peace. Under his administration, the resources of the State have been developed as they have under none of his predecessors. Under his direction, the water power of Maine has been fully surveyed; so that the whole country knows it extent. By his fostering care the tide of emigration has been turned to our State, and Wisconsin and Sweden strike hands in Aroostook. We already see his care repaid by a flourishing colony, which is a credit to Maine and an addition to his already bright record.

We want him for Senator, because he is not a politician. He is the candidate of the people. He wont do the dirty work of the politicians and that is why we want him to take the place of the late honored William Pitt Fessenden, who was so noble and independent that he was willing to sacrifice everything to his own true sense of duty and right.

When Gen. C. was at little Round Top and was asked if he could carry the hill after other officers had declined because the attempt seemed hopeless, he answered "I'll try. Forward! Onward!" and at the head of his troops marched right up, dislodged the enemy and held the position. Gen. Chamberlain saved the country that day, and now he will be as ready to "try" as then. With him to try is to do.

They say he cannot be trusted. O, my God! "He can't be trusted!" Who says so? They say our Congressional delegation says so. We say then to our Congressional delegation, be careful how you throw stones! Gen. Chamberlain has served four years in the army and four years in the Governor's chair, and the whole party is challenged to bring forward a single word, act or expression which will not show that, he is as good a Republican as ever lived. They say the Democrats speak well of him. Why, everybody speaks well of him, and is that his fault?—There is one thing, however, which the Democrats dislike in him—he has used up their party as bad as he did the rebel army. They say, too that Democrats will vote for him. If he makes the Republican party bigger, who is it can complain?

True, the Democrats talked about him in their convention, but who is able to say that he consented to become their candidate. I am authorized to say, by one of the leaders of that convention that they never had the first word of encouragement from Gen. Chamberlain that he would accept the Democratic nomination for Governor.

After the battle of Appomattox Court House, when the rebel army had capitulated, Gen. Chamberlain was deputed to receive the swords of the officers of Lee's army, and as they rode past, delivering up their swords, every man of them with one exception, greeted him with words of commendation of his valor and ability. But this was not because he was not a good Union man. Gov. Wise of Virginia, the exception I have named, expressed his disgust at surrendering his sword to a "d——d Yankee." General Chamberlain with that courtesy which has ever characterized him, simply said "It is you that are my prisoner, General."

There is Gen. Chamberlain. Wherever he is always a gentleman, a man who knows what to do and how to do it, and we now ask to have him appointed Senator. Who opposes it? It is most absurd to look at the opposition, in view of what they did two years ago at Augusta. They tell us that they did a great injustice then, and now they want to repair it. If they did an injustice then by electing Mr. Hamlin to Mr. Morrill's place, let them do justice now—let Mr. Hamlin resign in Mr. Morrill's favor. The chair empty is Wm. Pitt Fessenden's, and is only occupied to keep it warm, by Mr. Morrill, by the consent of Gov. Chamberlain.

The Committee on Resolutions then reported through their chairman, Mr. Crosby, the following:

RESOLUTIONS:

Resolved, That the military and civil services of Gov. Chamberlain entitle him to the gratitude of the Republican party, whose principles he has signally vindicated in the field, and no less in able administration of the affairs of State, during his successive terms of office; and that his election by them to the Senate of the United States will be a fitting acknowledgement of his eminent abilities and unblemished character, as well as an honor to the State whose brave sons have followed him, and to the nation which numbers him among its noblest defenders.

Resolved, That the unprecedented majorities by which Gov. Chamberlain has been repeatedly nominated and elected to his present position, and the unusual manifestation of the preference of the masses of the Republican party for his election to the Senate of the United States, afford an indication which cannot with propriety be disregarded by the Republican members of the incoming Legislature.

The resolutions were received with applause, and Hon. S. H. Blake was called to the stand.

Mr. Blake said, we had met to give expression to our admiration of Gov. Chamberlain. We feel that his culture and his Christian life have endeared him to the educated and the good, and that his military genius and heroism have marked him high on the calendar of great captains. Why then should we not be proud of him? No man ever doubted his personal courage,—no man ever questioned his patriotism. The army honor him,—the country respects him. Why may not we then, his fellow-citizens, commend one, who has shed such lustre upon the political organization that he and we belong to, and upon the State that gave him birth? Gov. Chamberlain has distinguished his official career by a deep solicitude for the welfare of the State, and has furthered the development of its material interests. He has shown a fine aptitude for business and great administrative ability; and why should not then, we who know him so well, speak confidently of his eminent fitness for the place that popular appreciation seems to hold in reserve for him? Mr. Blake then reviewed the history of Gen. Chamberlain at length from his college life to the end of the war. During the four years he has been Governor of Maine, said the speaker, his administrative talents, together with the admirable ability with which his official papers have been written, have perhaps impressed him more upon the country than any other Governor we have ever had and given to Maine more reputation in the other States than the Gubernatorial course of any of his predecessors in the Executive chair.—In all special occasions calling for his presence during his term of office, he has appeared to eminent advantage. Take him all in all,—measure him by any standard you will—compare him with any man in the State, or out of it if you will, and I submit that Governor Chamberlain comes up to the full measure of the stature of a great man. If Maine shall honor him with a seat in the Senate of the United States, she will, I think, thereby honor herself.

Other men have been named. They are patriotic, honorable men. I breathe no word of disparagement of any of them,—I could not if I would, I would not if I could. They are all eminently fit for any position the partiality of the State may assign them. But Gen. Chamberlain, from the force of his genius, or the force of his military reputation, or the force of circumstances, if you will, is, at the moment, the commanding man; and, in this juncture of affairs that is upon us, and in the lethargic condition of the Republican party, no matter how unmerited, I submit that the Republican organization of the State cannot afford not to elect Gov. Chamberlain to the United States Senate.

F. A. Wilson, Esq., in response to calls, said it was not necessary for him to take the stand. He said that he identified himself fully and heartily with this movement. He had known Gen. Chamberlain intimately in former times—had attended school with him, and lived with him, and he knew him to be an honorable, straightforward man in those days; but even if he had not known this, Gen. Chamberlain's record would be an assurance of his fitness for the place of United States Senator. Gen. Chamberlain is to succeed Wm. Pitt Fessenden, not Mr. Morrill. Beloved as Mr. Fessenden was,—a noble, honorable man who dared do right under all circumstances,—there is no person in public life so deserving to take his place as Gen. Chamberlain. Mr. Wilson said he had no doubt this city would send men to Augusta this winter, who will vote for Gen. Chamberlain for U. S. Senator, under all circumstances and at all hazards. In conclusion, he bade the movement God speed.

Geo. O. Pickering, Esq, said that words of his could neither add to or detract from the world-wide reputation of Gen. Chamberlain. That he was a gallant soldier, those of us who stood shoulder to shoulder with him on the battle field can bear hearty record; that he is a statesman those who have borne him company in affairs of State will testify; and it behooves us that the soldier, statesman and gentleman should receive his dues from our hands. Mr. Pickering briefly reviewed Gen. Chamberlain's course during the rebellion, and said he wrote a record in his blood which all can read without spectacles. In the field he gallantly bore the part assigned him; we are assured that our interests will receive no detriment in the more peaceful arena of the Senate, and it remains with us to see, that by our votes he receives the place.

John B. Foster, Esq., was then called upon. He said it was a pleasure to him to meet and address the assemblage as Republicans in the broadest sense of the term. We live under what is called a Republican form of government—a government of the people, but it requires no superior discernment to see that at times it is little better than despotism. When we elect men to offices of importance who use the power to give them to thwart the will of the people, then it is a despotism. People are willing to receive instruction from men they have honored by their votes, but when they attempt to dictate whom we shall vote for, it is our duty to resist them. We have a duty to perform and rights to exercise.

A little more than twelve months ago Hon. Wm. Pitt Fessenden died, leaving a vacant seat in the Senate of the United States. That seat was filled temporarily by a man we all respect. Far be it for me to disparage Mr. Morrill, but there is a man we all love—a man who has honored the State, and saved the country from destruction. We owe him something, and if there is anything in our power to honor him, he should have it. No man living is so well fitted to fill the seat of the lamented Fessenden, as Gen. Chamberlain. Everywhere this wish is expressed. Who opposes it? The Post Offices and Custom Houses. Politicians oppose Gen. Chamberlain, but the people want him and it is for us to say in our capacity as citizens whom we shall have. We must see that our Representatives to the Legislature are right. For one, I will vote for no man who will not under all circumstances and at all hazards vote for General Chamberlain for Senator.

Col. Jasper Hutchins of Brewer, in response to calls, said that four years ago the people of the State by one of those uprisings which disarrange the plans of politicians and smash the slates made up before hand, put Gen. Chamberlain into the Governor's chair. His patriotism and ability as a soldier added to his worth as a man put him in this place. There is something in his history which charmed all men. A young man devoted to the peaceful pursuits of learning,—at his country's call he threw aside his books and scholar's robes, and buckled on the sword in defence of liberty, acquitting himself on the field as you all well know. This made him Governor, and how well he has performed the duties of the office, the people of the country know. He has added new lustre and dignity to the office, and under his fostering care all the important interests of the State have been promoted, and the internal resources of Maine developed more than during any previous four years in our history. Both as soldier and governor, he has been a success, and we are assured of his fitness for any position, however exalted to which the people may elect him. The State will honor herself by sending Gen. Joshua L. Chamberlain to the United States Senate.

Col. J. Frank Godfrey was next called on. He said: We all remember, when in the spring of '61, after Sumter had been fired upon and the President issued his call for seventy-five thousand men, what a thrill ran through the country. We all remember how proud we were of the Second Maine Regiment as it marched through our streets, every man of which was regarded as worthy of our confidence and esteem—how we cheered them as they passed!—and even politicians joined in the shouts, saying "go in boys! you shall have the offices when you return."

After a while, some of those who bravely went out at their country's call, came back; and the soldiers of Maine do not complain that their services have been forgotten by the people. But certain political tribunals have lately arraigned them, and plots have been laid to disgrace our Soldier-Governor by arranging against him the so-called temperance people, and by raising the cry that he is popular among the Democrats. "I say he is a temperance man, and if he is a popular man, is it his fault? Governor Chamberlain is accused of two unpardonable sins. He declined for certain reasons to provide at a temperance Convention, and to break the law by pardoning one of the bloodiest and most brutal murderers that ever lived.

The soldiers of Maine believe that offices should be in the hands of able, honest and capable men. The people and soldiers want Gen. Chamberlain in the Senate, because they believe him to be honest, patriotic and able and a man who does not hold to the theory that the whole business of the country should be disarranged every four years to accommodate a new set of office seekers.

This movement is not a "bolt"; it is an uprising of the people all over the State for a man whom four years ago they made Governor in spite of the politicians. The meeting at Portland lately, and this meeting are a hand-writing on the wall, which it will not take a Daniel to interpret.

Gen. H. M. Plaisted being called upon, said he was in favor of the election of Governor Chamberlain to the U. S. Senate. Sink or swim, he said he went for Governor Chamberlain for that place. Admiration for his high character and gratitude, for his public services could not but command this support. He believed Gov. Chamberlain to be the fittest man and the most deserving. Without previous experience he had done well in every position of responsibility and trust imposed upon him—remarkably well, and he was bound to do equally well in any position he might be called upon to fill. Gov. Chamberlain had proved a success; he was success organized. With no military experience he had made one of the first soldiers of the War. Without experience in political affairs he had made a good Governor—the best Maine ever had. The best criterion to judge of his fitness for promotion was the fact that he had filled so well every position he had occupied. Having done so well the people were willing to trust him with higher responsibilities. If experience as a Senator was necessary, Gov. Chamberlain could acquire it as other men had; and the people propose to put him in the way of acquiring it by placing him in the seat of the lamented Fessenden. Equal to every occasion called upon to meet, he would prove himself a fit successor of that great Senator. What man in the State more worthy of the high honor than Gov. Chamberlain? He had proved his ability; he had attested his patriotism. In the time of public danger he chose the post of danger. No wonder than in time of peace the people proposed to give him the post of honor; not only because he deserved it, but from motives of patriotism. For his election would be to the young men in the future a pledge, that in perilous times the post of danger would be the post of honor as well as duty.

Gen. Plaisted said he favored the election of Gov. Chamberlain not only because of his fitness and his merits but because he was a representative man. He represented the sentiment of the war,—that patriotic sentiment that saved the Government. The people are true to that sentiment, and the Republican party would prove its loyalty to it by the election of Gov. Chamberlain. Could the Republican party afford not to elect him; could it afford to disappoint the desires and chill the enthusiasm of thousands of voters who stood with him in the field, and had stood by him at the polls? General Plaisted said he thought and therefore he favored Governor Chamberlain's election because he loved the Republican party and desired its success. He knew there were those in the party who had said Gov. Chamberlain was not a good Republican! Who were they who thus doubted his loyalty to the party? Were not some of them in the ranks of the opposition and denouncing the party as Black Republicans when Gov. Chamberlain was in the ranks of the Union Army?

Governor Chamberlain not a Republican! What a reflection upon the Republican voters of Maine who have four times by such majorities, made him Governor of the State! What an assumption of superior Republican orthodoxy on the part of these gentlemen who thus affect to doubt him! The people of Maine did not doubt Gov. Chamberlain. They proposed to make him United States Senator, and there was no power to prevent.

On motion of A. L. Simpson, Esq., the resolutions were accepted by a rising vote, and the meeting adjourned, with three cheers.

CANADA. A Toronto dispatch says Hon. Mr. Campbell's mission to England has been productive of important results. In the future Canada will have a voice in any modification that may be made in the fishery regulations, and the Canadian claims for losses sustained in Fenian raids will be put on the same footing as the Alabama question.

MISSOURI CONVENTIONS. The regular Republican Convention at Jefferson City, Mo., on Tuesday, nominated the following ticket: For Governor, Joseph McClurg; Lieut. Governor, Alfred Harlan; Secretary of State, John S. Stover; Treasurer, Chauncey J. Filly; Auditor, G. A. Mozier; Attorney General, W. A. John.

The Republicans who left the regular Convention made Carl Schurz permanent President and nominated the following ticket: For Governor, B. Gratz Brown; Lieut. Governor, I. J. Gronelly; Secretary of State, E. F. Weigle; Treasurer, Samuel F. Hayes; Auditor, Daniel M. Draper; Attorney General, A. F. Baker.

Among the delegates from New York city to the Republican State Convention are Messrs. Roberts, Opdyke, Murphy, Darling, Pierrepont, Cornell and other well known Republicans. The Fenton and Conkling men are about equally numerous in the delegation.

The Democrats of the Third Congressional District of Ohio, have nominated Wilton Taylor.

THE DOWNFALL OF NAPOLEON.

McMahon's whole army capitulated and the Emperor of the French a prisoner in the hands of the Prussians! Such is the startling culmination of a month's campaign, as announced by cable on Saturday. We were prepared, by the general tenor of our news, to hear of continued Prussian successes, and the critical situation of the French forces has been more and more apparent as the enemy massed its overwhelming columns against their divided armies, but the complete overthrow of McMahon's whole force and the capture of Napoleon has anticipated the expectations of those who were most sanguine of Prussia's ultimate triumph.

One month ago, Napoleon was massing the grand armies of the French Empire along the frontier, for a conquering march upon the Prussian capital, where beneath the folds of the victorious tri-color, France should haughtily dictate to Germany the terms of future peace. Only one month ago! And in that short time, the enemy, whom he supposed to be desperately endeavoring to gather force enough to check his advance, have fallen upon his armies with the might of giants, hurling its magnificent battalions back upon their own soil in disastrous rout, following them ruthlessly upon the retreat and striking constantly the ponderous blows which have driven one wing, beaten and shattered, to seek the shelter of a beleaguered city, and forced the other grand corps of the Imperial forces to unconditional surrender, with the Monarch of France a prisoner to the King of Prussia!

The man who, for more than twenty years has wielded despotic power in France, and stood forth a central figure in all the complications of Europe; forcing the recognition of hereditary monarchies and impressing his imperious will upon every phase of Continental policy, in one short month has seen the foundations of his throne crumble beneath him, and is to-day without prestige, without command, broken down in health and spirit, a prisoner of war in the power of those whom he has so arrogantly defied.

One can hardly imagine a more tremendous downfall to an individual than that embodied in this latest episode of the great conflict in Europe. From unlimited sway over one of the most powerful nations of the earth, to a captivity unillumined by a hope of restoration; with the execrations of a defeated army and exasperated people hurled after him in his discomfiture and the visions of his dynasty blown away with the smoke of one battle-field, the prizes of ambition have surely turned to ashes in his grasp.

What will result to France, it is too soon to presume. It would seem impossible that the onward march of the Prussians can now be stayed, and although the spirit of pride which is so strong in the French people, may incite them to attempt the defence of Paris, they will be unable to resist the great force which can now be brought against it. We have heard nothing from the French capital since the capture of the Emperor and it is not safe to count upon the probable action of its turbulent and impulsive citizens.

That France has had a new page of her history written in blood, we know, and in the confusion and uncertainty of the present, can only ask—"After the Empire, what?"

LATEST NEWS IN BRIEF.

McMAHON'S WHOLE ARMY CAPTURED!!!

The Emperor Napoleon Surrenders Himself to King William!

A Dispatch From the King of Prussia

McMahon Wounded

THE CAPITULATION AT SEDAN!

REPORT OF BAZAINE'S SURRENDER.

Overwhelming Prussian Victories.

PRINCE NAPOLEON DISGRACED.

EXCITEMENT IN PARIS.

TROCHU VIRTUAL DICTATOR.

SURRENDER OF McMAHON.

LONDON, Sept. 3d, 1870.

King William announces the surrender of the entire French Army at Sedan, together with the Emperor Napoleon!

Berlin, Sept. 3d.—The following highly important dispatch has just been made public here:

"BEFORE SEDAN, FRANCE, Friday, Sept 2d; 1:22 P. M.

From the King to the Queen:—

"A capitulation, whereby the whole Army at Sedan are prisoners of war, has just been concluded, with General Wimpfen commanding, instead of Marshal McMahon who is wounded. The Emperor surrendered himself to me, as he has no command, and left everything to the Regent at Paris. His residence, I shall appoint after an interview with him at a rendezvous to be fixed immediately.

What a course events, with God's guidance, have taken!"

OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION.

Washington, Sept. 3. The following has been received at the State Department from the American Legation at London:

London, Sept. 3—1:15 p. m. The Emperor and McMahon's army have surrendered at Sedan to the King. The Emperor's residence is to be appointed by the King after an interview with him. The capitulation was concluded with Gen. Wimpfen instead of Marshal McMahon, who is wounded.

New York, Sept. 3. The Tribune has a special from Berlin this morning, confirming McMahon's defeat and surrender.

EXCITEMENT IN LONDON.

London, Sept. 3. The great pacific news just received gives unusual relief. The effect is visible in nearly every countenance and a sudden impulse given to prices and transactions.

Noon. The news of the surrender of the Emperor and McMahon's army created great excitement and the anxiety is universal to learn whether this surrender involves a cessation of hostilities and an unresisted occupation of Paris.

AN EMPEROR FOR GERMANY.

The Germans are urging King William to declare himself Emperor of Germany.

GEN. FAILLEY SHOT.

Brussels, Sept. 3—noon. Gen. Failley has been shot. One account says that it was by McMahon's orders and others by his own soldiers.

PRINCE NAPOLEON DISGRACED.

Paris, Sept. 3. The Empress has enjoined the Prince Napoleon to return to Paris. He has refused and a decree has been issued stripping him of the rank of Prince and Senator, and withdrawing his dotation.

The Etoile of this morning says that the French have been utterly defeated, and the Emperor and McMahon are prisoners.

The French soldiers massacre their own officers. Many of the latter have escaped to Belgium.

THE FRENCH FUGITIVES.

Brussels, Sept. 3. Additional bodies of French troops have passed the Belgian frontier near Bouillon and were promptly disarmed. In one body of 3000 men were one General and several officers of the Imperial staff who gave up their swords.

THE NEWS IN NEW YORK.

New York, Sept. 3. The news of McMahon's surrender creates the greatest excitement on the streets and in public places and most of all in the Gold Room and Stock Exchange. The sales of gold began instantly on the receipt news, sometime before the opening of the Boards, at 115¼, a fall of ¾ from the closing price of last night, and the first regular sale was made at 115⅛. The great pressure to sell forced the price down in the first fifteen minutes to 115, but it soon recovered an eighth and the market is now weak at 115 to 115⅛.

French sympathisers refuse to believe the news.

PHILADELPHIA ENTHUSIASTIC.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3. The cable news has caused great excitement here. The German and American flags are being run up and the bulletin boards are surrounded by crowds, cheering wildly.

NO NEWS FROM PARIS.

New York, Sept. 3. Although dispatches have been received in this city to-day by the French cable not a word has been received from the Paris agent of the Associated Press, which indicates that the censor has forbidden the transmission of all war and political news.

THE STRUGGLES OF BAZAINE.

Malancourt, Sept. 2—noon. Since Wednesday morning Bazaine has constantly sought to get northward from Metz with his army. The forces of Prince Frederick Charles and Manteuffel have repelled all his efforts and especially in the action which may be styled the battle of Noisseville. The French were falling back into the fortress. The Prussian force in this battle was composed of the 1st and 2d corps and a portion of the Landwehr. The conflict occurred for the most part around Servigny and Noisseville.

Berlin, Sept. 3. A dispatch just received has the following:

Since Wednesday last Bazaine has steadily sought to escape to the north, but he has always been frustrated by Manteuffel, directed by Prince Frederick Charles.

It is really believed in Paris that McMahon is acting on the offensive and that on Thursday he destroyed the Prussian left, obliging the Crown Prince to fall back on the Hills of Argonne.

THURSDAY'S BATTLE.

London, Sept. 3—3:30 p. m. The following from Berlin has just been received:

The particulars of the battle of the 1st are still deficient, though in Paris it is thought that the contest resulted favorably to the French.

The Emperor certainly made a demand for truce and then came in personally and surrendered.

Paris telegrams continue to say that McMahon may hold out under shelter of the fortress.

Marshal Bazaine's position is good and he lacks neither provisions nor men.

London, Sept. 3. Martial law has been declared in Algeria.

The Russian press sympathize with Prussia.

WHAT THE THUNDERER SAYS.

The Times this morning says that McMahon's series of errors have aggravated the initial error and compromised the last chance of retrieving the fortunes of France. From the chaos of unintelligible and conflicting telegrams we gather that McMahon was proceeding to the relief of Metz, when he encountered and driven back by the Germans, who pursued him so closely and constantly that collisions were inevitable. Hence conflicts have been reported all the week. There was serious work at Sedan on Tuesday when McMahon reached the heights of Vaux, near Carrigan, and thither came the Emperor on Tuesday. On that day 30,000 of McMahon's army was attacked between Mousard and Moulins. This was the first battle of Beaumont reported by King William to the Queen. The French were driven over the Meuse to Mousson and the encounter on the other bank of the river became general. The French were driven from Vaux, and daily fought about Wednesday, between Douzey and Bazeilles, with the Meuse and Cherbetween them and the enemy. A severe engagement occurred. The French turned the French flight, necessitating [illegible] Sedan, before which they [illegible] the fight on Thursday, which [illegible] into that fortress.

FIGHTING AT STRASBURG.

Berlin, Sept. 3. The following is official—Mundelheim, Sept. 2. At four o'clock this morning the French at Strasburg opened a violent [illegible] along the entire line and a [illegible] duel ensued. The Prussian loss [illegible] unknown. When the telegram left [illegible] fortunet. The French made a [illegible] the Isle of Weaken and on the [illegible] near the station, but Col. Renz, with [illegible] Grenadiers, repulsed them and [illegible] back into the city. One officer [illegible] chasseurs were taken prisoners. [illegible] Col. Worder was wounded.

[illegible]

London, Sept. 3. [illegible] correspondence from Bouillon dated [illegible] that the Emperor and Marshal McMahon alone escaped only by a hair breadth from capture. McMahon, on the 30th, was at a farm on the road to Stonay and Mousson, where he met the Emperor on his way to Sedan, and while these two magnates were quietly breakfasting two Prussian divisions came suddenly upon them. The Emperor had just time to jump hastily on his horse and reached the highway only five minutes before the Prussians came up to the farmhouse.

The French were wholly unaware of the approach of the enemy as they kept no patrol, scouts or advance guard. Had not the Prussian advance guard been very weak both the Emperor and Marshal McMahon must inevitably have been made prisoners.

A special dispatch from the seat of war reports a most brilliant Prussian success.—Twenty thousand Prussians and 10,000 French soldiers lay killed upon the field of battle.

The Prussians who entered Belgium and surrendered at the requisition of the Belgium authorities, have been sent to Bruges.

The French who were captured at the same time have been lodged in a citadel of the same city.

The greater part of the officers of both forces had been set at liberty on parole.

The entire population of Namur have placed themselves in the service of the sanitary department.

DISPATCH FROM MINISTER BANCROFT.

Washington, Sept. 3. Minister Bancroft has telegraphed to the Department of State "McMahon's army has capitulated. The Emperor Napoleon surrendered himself to King William without prejudice to the Paris Regency."

SURRENDER OF BAZAINE'S ARMY.

London, Sept. 3. Special dispatch to the Telegraph: It is stated that Bazaine with the army force on occupation of Metz, surrendered at 4 p. m. yesterday, to the army investing that fortress, on the receipt of the news of the surrender of the Emperor.

NEWS FROM THE FRONT.

Special to N. Y. Tribune—

London, Sept. 3. A special correspondent of the Tribune telegraphs from the King's headquarters near Sedan, Friday:

"THE BATTLE OF SEDAN

began at six o'clock on the morning of Sept. 2d. Two Prussian corps were in position on the west of Sedan, having reached there by long forced marches to cut off the French retreat to Mezieres. South of Sedan was the first Bavarian corps and east, across the Meuse, was the second Bavarian corps. The Saxons were on the northeast with the guards. I was with the King throughout the day on the hill above St. Meuse, commanding a splendid view of the valley of the Meuse and the field. After a tremendous battle, the Prussians having completely surrounded Sedan and the Bavarians having entered the fortifications of Sedan, the Emperor capitulated at 5:15 p. m.

NAPOLEON'S SURRENDER.

His letter to the King of Prussia said: 'AS I CANNOT DIE AT THE HEAD OF MY ARMY I LAY MY SWORD AT THE FEET OF YOUR MAJESTY.' Napoleon left Sedan for the Prussian headquarters at Vendresse at 7 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 2d. McMahon's whole army, comprising capitulated without conditions. The Prussians had 240,000 men engaged or in reserve and the French 120,000.

100,000 PRISONERS,

ANOTHER DISPATCH SAYS,

At half-past two o'clock a message was sent to the Emperor, at his headquarters advising him to fly to Belgium, but the Emperor was too ill to undertake the journey.

This morning the Prussians prepared to attack Sedan, which was not in a condition to resist it. At twelve o'clock a party of officers, headed by Gen. Wimpfen left Sedan bearing a flag of truce, and were conducted to the Prussian head quarters, where the General formally surrendered the French army and fortresses to King William. They also bore a letter from the Emperor to King William stating that he desired to surrender himself, not having any command. The formal capitulation took place at half-past one o'clock.—It is said that the Emperor will be sent under a strong escort to Magdeburg, but his destination is a secret.

YOUNG LOUIS.

Brussels, 3d. The Prince Imperial of France has arrived at Chimay, 3 miles southeast of Ums and has been lodged at the Palace of the Prince of Chimay.

REJOICINGS IN BERLIN.

A dispatch from Berlin to-day says that the rejoicings over the reception of the glorious news from Sedan baffles description. It was known at 8 o'clock in the morning. The whole population poured into the streets and rushed to the palace of the Queen. In a very few minutes the Queen was out on the balcony, dressed in a plain morning wrapper, weeping with joy as she received the deafening cheers of the multitude.

Hundreds of women fell upon their knees, thanking God for the apparent approach of the end of a terrible war. Schools were closed and processions of children were formed in all quarters.

Many climbed the statue of Frederick the Great, crowning it with wreaths and flags.

An impromptu procession of citizens was gotten up which marched through the streets with banners and music.

There is a general belief that France will abandon further resistance. All financial circles share in the exultation, which is shown by the buoyancy of the markets. The people gladly welcome peace on the most generous terms consistent with future security against future wars.

10,000 FUGITIVES.

Brussels, Sept. 3—4 p. m. The number of French soldiers within the boundary of Belgium on Friday was about 10,000. They all laid down their arms and were then conveyed to Namur. They had with them four hundred military wagons, two guns and 1,000 horses.

Paris, 3. The Moniteur announces that the Algerians are enrolling en masse in the army at Lyons. Large bodies of sharp-shooters have started for the frontier.

Volunteering is general in the south of France, this sentiment prevades the entire country; peace is impossible while a single Prussian stands on French soil.

TWO BATTLES ON FRIDAY.

London, Sept. 3. The Tribune's special telegraphs from Thionville this morning that the two battles fought yesterday were bloody but decisive. The Prussians made the attack at 6 a. m., firing incessantly and furiously until half past three p. m., when the firing ceased and the Prussians attacked with bayonets and McMahon's was driven across the Meuse toward Sedan. The [illegible] is confirmed by a messenger and by a number of Germans. The enemy are in force near the frontier. Two hundred officers of the 88th regiment of the line, who arrived at Florenceville this evening, admitted McMahon's retreat, but knew nothing about his surrender at Sedan.

FROM PARIS VIA LONDON.

London, Sept. 3. Telegrams from Paris state that the utmost agitation and excitement prevails. Rumors of a disastrous close of the recent terrible fighting on the Belgian frontier are current and the people are gloomy and depressed. The last hopes of the Napoleonic dynasty have faded away and in the confidence and sympathies of the people. The Committee of Defence are still working steadily for an obstinate resistance, though the general opinion seems to be that Paris will not suffer a siege. Paris will make a determined resistance should the enemy invest it.

RUMORS OF A REPUBLIC.

Rumors are current that a Republic will be proclaimed, and that more ample powers will be given to the present committee of defense constituting it a provisional government.—Gen. Trochu, it is rumored, will probably be the President of the Republic.

FROM PARIS DIRECT.

Paris, 3d.—No official information has been received here to-day from the armies. The battles of the past few days are generally considered indecisive, though the losses on both sides have been very great.

A majority of the Journals, look upon an attack on Paris as impossible, now that the Prussians have not been able to leave with McMahon in their rear. Paris with the formidable preparations she has lately made would require all their force. The Prussians could hardly hope for even partial success, without exerting their utmost strength.

PARIS TO HOLD OUT.

It is well understood now in Germany that Paris instead of making peace, will defend itself to the last extremity, a fact which will account for the Prussian change of plans.

60,000 MORE SOLDIERS.

It is ascertained that the enrollment of men between the ages of 25 and 35, will in a few days give a force of 300,000 men.

Gen. Trochu is virtually dictator.

LATEST FROM PARIS.

Paris, 4. A Council of Ministers have issued the following to the French people. "A great misfortune has come upon the country after three days of heroic struggles, sustained by the army of Marshal McMahon, against 300,000 of the enemy. Forty thousand men have been made prisoners.

General Wimpfen, who took command of the army in the place of Marshal McMahon, who was badly wounded, has signed the capitulation. This cruel reverse will not shake our courage. Paris is to-day in a complete state of defense, the military forces of the country will be organized in a few days, a new army will be under the walls of Paris and another army is forming on the banks of the Loire.

Your patriotism, your union, your energy, will save France. The Emperor has been made a prisoner, in the struggle. The Government in accord with public powers, will take all measures required by the gravity of events.

(Signed) Count I Palikao, H. Chevreau, Rigault de Genouilly, Jules Brame de la Tour D'Auvergne, Grandeperret, Clement Duvernois, P. Moyne, Busson, Billoult, Jerome David, of the Council of Ministers."

NOMINATION.

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 4, 1870.

The Republican Caucus here last night nominated J. S. Lyford and Geo. H. Pillsbury as candidates for Representatives. Both are Chamberlain men.

FISHING SCHOONER CAPTURED.

QUEBEC, Sept. 4, 1870.

The American fishing schooner Lizzie E. Parr, of Gloucester, Mass., was captured by the Government schooner La Canadienne, six miles above Seven Islands, while fishing, and has been brought into this port. The cargo is loaded with ice and has about 2,000 pounds of fish on board. The case will come before the Court on Monday for adjudication.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

—Large congregations at all of our Churches yesterday.

—It is stated by those who have lived on the river for many years, that the Penobscot has not been so low for 40 years as it is now.

—Mr. Quimby, of the Foxcroft Exchange, is building a new stable capable of accommodating fifty horses.

—We learn that Mrs. Dyer formerly organist of the Hammond street Church, has accepted the position tendered her of organist of State street Church, Portland.

—Woodmen say that the rain has saved immense quantities of bark—hemlock, not canine—we should be willing to lose all the latter kind.

—Farmers have complained for a long time that the grasshoppers milk their cows,—by taking the feed from them. The rain of Saturday will probably stop that unusual proceeding.

—We clip the following from the Portland Argus:—"The Bangor people have charming out-door concerts. They have a good band there and they give it proper encouragement."

—We learn that on Friday evening two ladies, who were driving on the Trotting Park, were thrown out of their carriage by their horse taking fright, and severely injured.—They were taken to the Park house, from which they were conveyed to this city in a coach.

—The evidence in the E. & P. Railroad case before Judge Rice, Hon. A. P. Morrill and Phinheas Barnes, Esq., as referees, was all in Saturday, and the hearing was adjourned to the last of this week at Augusta, when the arguments will be made.

—The Maine Lloyds have hung out a new sign which, for beauty, cannot be excelled in the city. It was designed and carved by Messers. Seavey & Son, and in design and execution is, we think, superior to anything we ever saw from their establishment.

—Rev. Prof. O. C. Everett of Cambridge, Mass., was in our city yesterday, and took part in the services at the Independent Congregational Church. His many friends were glad to welcome him again.

—The question of more market room is again agitated. We hope before long to see Pickering Square enlarged by removing all the old wooden buildings on both sides of Dore street, and making a sidewalk on a straight line with that past the Mercantile Block, as far as Union St.

—Our long continued drouth was broken Saturday morning by a timely rain, which continued, at intervals to Sunday morning.—It was very much such a rain as the New Hampshire minister prayed for in the following words:—"O Lord, we pray for a rain!—Not a tearin', drivin' rain, such as harrars up the face of natur, but a drizzlin', sozzlin' rain, such as lasts all day and pretty much all night."

—The City Council of Gardiner has passed an ordinance making it unlawful for a crowd of more than three to encumber the sidewalks on any day or hang round the corners on Sundays, or use profane or obscene language in the streets of that city. We have a similar ordinance in this city, which the loafers who congregate on the Kenduskeag bridge evenings will do well to bear in mind.

—Steamer Cambridge on her last trip from this city to Boston, ran into Steamer Ulysses for Nahant, which crossed her bows as she was coming up Boston harbor in a thick fog. The Cambridge was only slightly injured, but the Ulysses was so badly damaged that she sank after reaching a wharf in East Boston. No person was injured.

THE OLDEST MASON. We are indebted to George A. Thatcher, Esq., for a handsomely bound volume containing a history of Corinthian Lodge of F. & A. M., instituted at Concord. N. H., in 1797. This work contains a list of the names of the older members, the persons who proposed them, and when they received their degrees. We find by that record that Hon. Samuel Thatcher, of this city, the father of Geo. H. Thatcher, Esq., is one of the oldest Masons in the State, or in the United States. He was initiated June 18 and raised to the degree of Master Mason July 2, 1798. Mr. Thatcher is 94 years of age, quite feeble, but still retains a vivid recollection of all the early events of his varied life. Few men arrive at that extreme age, and fewer still can say that they are Masons of more than seventy-two years standing.

CENSUS ITEMS. A. P. Buck, Esq., Asst. Marshal, sends us the following:—Number of inhabitants in Sub-Division No. 152—Foxcroft, 1,170; Guilford, 818; Abbot, 712; Kingsbury, 171; Bowerbank, 83; Howard, 173; Monson, 600; Blanchard, 164; Elliotsville, 42; Shirley, 206; Greenville, 370; No. 3, Range 9, 10; No. 2, R. 9, (Deer Island), 15; No. 1, R. 13, (Reach River), 3; No. 2, R. 13, 9; No. 3, R. 13, 14; No. 4, R. 13, 11; No. 6, R. 13, 50; Days Academy, 10; A, R. 14, 0; Gore A, R. 13 and 14, 7; No. 3, R. 15, 10. Total, 4,702.

EXCURSION. Mr. Editor:—A large party made an excursion from Lincoln and Winn Dover on Thursday last. We had heard a great deal about the Bangor & Piscataquis Railroad, and thought we would try it. We found it vastly better than we had been lead to expect; in fact, with the exception of a part of the way being somewhat rough, it is in every respect as good as most railroads in Maine. At Dover, Mr. Blethen of the Blethen House threw open his hotel to the company and used every effort to make the visit pleasant. Dover we found to be one of the smartest and finest looking villages in the State, and is rapidly increasing in population and prosperity. We wish it every success.

Lincoln Centre, Sept. 3. B.

IN MEMORIAM. Mr. Editor:—I notice in your paper of Tuesday last the death of Mr. Wm. H. Mower late a resident and a native of this city. A few words illustrative of his character are due to his memory. When but a small boy he travelled daily from his father's residence to the High School and returned at night, a distance of five miles, and followed it up for one season, determined to fit himself and to enter some college. At the age of 15 he was employed to carry the Express between Bangor and Boston, twice a week, and such was the confidence placed in him, that he was intrusted with large sums of money at that early age. In this position he discharged his duties faithfully and correctly. At one time in the winter, when at the age of 16, on an extremely cold day, while crossing the Kennebec River, when about half across, the boat stuck fast in the ice, the ferryman could not get one way or the other. Young Mower had large sums of money to save if possible, and added to this sore trouble, the ice would not bear a man to stand erect. He took the funds, and at the risk of his life crept on the ice, pushing the treasure before him until he reached the shore. It was then considered a brave adventure. He was possessed of a fine business capacity, and the strictest integrity, and was a self-made man, of great energy and perseverance.

BANGOR POLICE COURT

BEFORE RECORDER LYON.

Friday, Sept. 2.—Patrick Hefron, for an assault, was fined $3 and costs.

Wm Callinus (not he who first brought letters into Greece) was sent to the House of Correction for thirty days, as a common drunkard.

Jerry Mullins, for drunkenness, was fined $3 and costs.

Levi Stevens, for drunkenness and disturbance, was fined $3 and costs.

BANGOR PRODUCE MARKET.

SATURDAY, Sept. 3d, 1870.

The following report is obtained by particular observation on the market, and the quotations are the prices paid for produce from the country teams this day, or about the average for the week past:

HAY.—During the past week hay has advanced on the market, and the best qualities of loose sell at from $20 to $21 per ton. A good fair article sells at from $15 to $18 and $19, according to quality.

STRAW.—Loose straw sells at from $8 to $10 for the best loads.

OATS are brought in in considerable quantity, and sell at from 60 to 65 cts. per bushel for new, and old oats would bring from 65 to 70 cts.

BEANS come in very sparingly at this season of the year, as the old crop is about all in and it is too early for the new. Good clean yellow-eyes are worth from $2 25 to $2.30 per bushel; and extra hand-picked pea-beans from $2.50 to $2.75.

BUTTER continues to be scarce on the market, on account of the severe drought, and the best lots sell at from 40 to 42 and 45 cts. and in some instances extra lots have sold above these figures. Store and picked up lots sell according to quality, from 35 to 40 cts. for sweet butter.

EGGS are plenty on the market at from 20 to 21 cent per dozen.

POTATOES sold to-day at from 80 to 95 and 90 cents per bushel. Occasionally a load has sold a trifle higher, but the quotation is about the range of the market.

CHICKENS sell at from 20 to 25 cents per pound, and Pigeons at $2 00 per dozen.

ROUND HOGS, in good condition for the market, sell at 30 cts.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Abel Sampson has been nominated as the Republican candidate for the Legislature for the Temple district.

J. Allen Barber, of Grant County, was on Tuesday nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Third Wisconsin District.

At the Republican caucus held in Paris, on Saturday last, Henry E. Hammond, Esq. was re-nominated by acclamation for Representative to the Legislature.

William Bean, Esq., of Denmark, has been nominated as Republican candidate for Representative, for the District composed of the towns of Hiram, Denmark, Lovell and Stow.

Much interest is given to the election in Louisiana, because the Legislature to be elected, this fall will have to choose a U. S. Senator in place of Senator J. S. Harris, Republican, whose term expires next March.

At the Lincoln County Republican Convention at Wiscasset, Aug. 25th, the following nominations were made: For Senator, Hon. Edwin Flye; Sheriff, Seth Patterson (re-nominated by acclamation); County Attorney, Henry G. Robinson; County Commissioner, George L. Hall; County Treasurer, Samuel G. Clifford; Register of Probate, Fenelon G. Barber. The Convention was addressed by Hon. Lot M. Morrill, Hon. James G. Blaine and others.

At the Washington County Republican Convention at Dennysville on the 24th ult, the following nominations were made: For Senators, Putnam Rolfe of Princeton, and Daniel J. Sawyer of Jonesport; Sheriff, Manning Dunbar of Cherryfield; County Attorney, E. B. Harvey of Calais; Treasurer, Ignatius Sargent of Machias; County Commissioner, E. P. Dorman of Harrington. Resolutions were unanimously adopted instructing the Legislative delegation to support Hon. Lot M. Morrill for U. S. Senator.

THE SCHEME TO CAPTURE NAPOLEON.—The Pall Mall Gazette mentions the following incidents in the movements of Napoleon and his son:

The Emperor left Metz at half-past three on Sunday afternoon, and went to Longville, near Metz, and put up at the house of Colonel Henecque, his Staff encamping on the lawn. Always capitally informed the Prussians took it into their heads to carry off His Majesty. Hiding themselves during the night in the little thickets around the Chateau Frescati and the neighboring farms, they sent a squadron of Uhlans across the railroad, while they opened fire on the village of the Moulins, situated to the left of Longville, in order to intercept all aid. Fortunately for the Emperor, the French Engineers blew up the railway bridge under the fire, and the Uhlans being cut off, and finding a strong force at Longville, surrendered. The next night the Emperor passed at Gravelotte, in the house of a farmer named Plaisant, and at 4 a. m. he got into an open chaise with the Prince Imperial and drove away, taking the valley the most remote from the Moselle, as the Prussians gunners were already getting in motion. It was found necessary to protect the road with Grenadiers of the Guards and three regiments of cavalry. The Emperor passed through Conflans, breakfasted at Etain, and entered Verdun without further molestation. At this moment Bazaine was engaged in checking the armies of Prince Frederick Charles and Marshal Steinmetz. A staff officer galloped into Verdun with the news of the result, but the Emperor had just left for Chalons with the Prince Imperial, and, hardly any escort. At the station he asked for a train. "Sire," said the station-master, "I have nothing to offer you but a third-class carriage." "I will content myself with that," replied the Emperor, who took his seat on the hard board refusing a cushion from the carriage. He asked for a glass of wine, and the station-master washed out the glass he had just used for breakfast, and gave the Emperor a drink. The Prince Imperial, who was greatly fatigued, demanded to wash his hands and face and performed his ablutions in the station-master's glass, using his pocket handkerchief for a towel. On the morning of the 17th the Emperor reached Chalons, and there are diverse reports abroad as to the reception he met with at the camp. Some of the evening papers say that he has retired to Rheims, and I am inclined to believe that such is the case. The Garde Mobile is said to have flung at him such epithets as "assassin," &c.

WHEAT IN CALIFORNIA.—The wheat crop the present season, in the extensive valley of San Joaquin and Napa Valley is almost a failure. This, I am satisfied after the most careful inquiry, is largely owing to the shiftless manner of farming and putting in the crops.

During the dry season of the summer months, the ground intended for the next wheat crop is left undisturbed by the plough. When a few inches of the surface soil have become moistened by the first fall rains, the gang plowers are started by the sowers ahead, thus slightly covering the seed scattered over the untilled ground. These valley lands in their virgin state, it is true, produce remunerative crops with no better tillage than this. Is it at all surprising that with such a system of farming, if system it can be called, short crops in those valleys are now the general complaint in this season of drought? The best wheat lands of California, we presume contain an almost inexhaustible supply of mineral elements; but even these soils, like those of Petaluma, will cease to grow the remunerative crops of former years, unless timely precautions are used to keep up the necessary supply of organic matter.—Cor. Michigan Farmer.

The largest kitchen in the world is that of the Liebig Beef Extract Company in Uruguay. It covers 20,000 square feet of ground, and is divided into a number of compartments, which are all constructed with a view to their peculiar uses. You enter first a huge, cool dark hall, with paved floor, where the meat is weighed and conveyed through openings in the wall to the cutting machines. These are four in number, and can cut up 200 young oxen in an hour. From the cutting machines the meat goes into twelve iron receivers, where it is pressed by steam power of 75 pounds to the square inch. These twelve receivers are capable of containing 12,000 pounds of meat each. From these the meat, or rather the liquid now, runs through pipes into receptacles constructed for the purpose of separating the fatty substance from the extract and to clear it. Lastly, it is raised by steam air-pumps, into large coolers, filtered, and subsequently packed for transportation. The butcher, of the Company is a scientific executioner, who can with ease and grace kill 80 oxen in an hour by skillfully separating the vertebræ.

MRS. MANCHESTER. Mrs. M. has been a resident of our State for ten years, and has become known to a very large portion of our community for her successful skill in curing some of the most desperate cases of diseases which afflict the human race. The testimonials which she is daily receiving from her patients all over the State are a sufficient guaranty of her success. Her examinations of her patients are such as to enable her to discern the true character of the disease and prescribe a remedy for their cure, and she seldom fails in the results. Let the sick consult her at once. She remains but a short time longer.

JAMES M. SULLIVAN, late of the firm of Goodale & Sullivan, will be happy to wait on his friends at Joseph F. Snow's, 32 Main St.

PURE TEAS.

Just Received,
FROM JAPAN AND CHINA,
—BY THE—
Mutual Store Company,
No. 22 & 24 Central Street.

Large invoices of fresh and very elegant flavored New Teas, imported by the most direct route, and selected by an American agent of the highest integrity and undoubted skill, sent out to China expressly to guard against, and if possible, protect the American consumers of this delicious plant from the fraudulent and consummate frauds practiced by the Chinamen, in curing and packing Teas for the American Market. And most wonderfully has he succeeded in preventing and exposing John Chinaman's rascality, as one trial of our Teas will well attest, prices lower than can be found elsewhere in New England.

ALSO,

PURE COFFEES,

of the choicest grades, imported expressly for the "Mutual Store Co.," from "Mocha," "Java," "Ceylon," "Rio," and "Porto Cabello," and can be sold for one profit only, which brings our Coffee lower in price than can be found at any other Store in the Country.

Our Roasted Coffee

is all prepared by an American House of long standing, and whose reputation for honesty and determination of integrity, is above all reproach, or suspicion, and are not allowed to pass through the hands of the Chinamen, where they would be sure to receive the villainous adulteration. Sure to suit. Try them. Our are already well known in this community, and are well appreciated. N. C.

We have also a very large and carefully selected Stocks of all kinds of goods entering into the stocks of first class Grocery Store, and a customer at our Store can buy not only Teas, Coffee, Spices, Saleratus, and a few such articles, but also, Molasses of all grades, Syrups, Pork and Lard, Kerosene Oil, Flour, Meal, Butter, Eggs, and all kinds of country produce, everything in the Wooden Ware line, from a ten cent Basket to a Clothes-horse; also, English fish, English Pickles, English Mustards, English Sauce for your fresh meat, Sardines, Lobsters and Oysters in cans. Tomatoes in cans, and very cheap, all kinds of canned fruit; Jellies in Tumblers, a large stock of Raspberry Shrub, just the thing now wanted (exempt from Wingate), Burnett's, Knight's, Lewis', and other flavoring extracts, Preston's Cocoa, and finally everything pertaining to a real and sold at prices that defy competition.

Our clerks are all real Yankees, and will be found at all times ready and willing to attend politely to all who may favor us with a call, and speaking of that, the proprietor himself is not slow.

THE Central Railroad, of Iowa,
235 MILES IN LENGTH
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This Company are now pushing their work forward with great rapidity, and the entire line necessary to connect St. Louis and St. Paul is graded and under contract to be finished this season. The fact that this enterprise has been undertaken by a combination of leading bankers and railroad capitalists of well known wealth, experience and ability, insures its early completion and future success.

The road runs through the richest and most thickly settled portion of Iowa, and is built in the interest of the great Northern system of roads which centre at St. Paul. The of the Company pay 7 per cent. Gold Interest, free of Government tax, and are issued for the very small amount of $16,000 per mile. For the present, the unsold portion are offered at 95 and accrued interest. The attention of investors is invited to the fact that the road is now nearly finished, and that the security is therefore entitled to a high rank.

In our opinion, no class of investments has been found so uniformly safe and profitable as First Mortgages on completed railroads.

Of 135 companies operating, 6,000 miles of railroad in the Northern and Western States, on which there is a bonded debt of $662,000,000, we know of but two that do not pay their interest regularly.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Government, and buy really First-class Railroad securities—such as these—than the present.

W. B. SHATTUCK,
Treasurer.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

REMORSE.

[Translated from Graf von Platen by H. W. Longfellow, in the Atlantic Monthly for September.]

How I started up in the night, in the night,
Drawn on without rest or reprieval!
The streets, with their watchmen, were lost to my sight,
As I wandered so light,
In the night, in the night,
Through the gate with the arch mediæval.

The mill-brook rushed through the rocky height,
I leaned o'er the bridge in my yearning;
Deep under me watched I the waves in their flight,
As they glided so light,
In the night, in the night,
Yet backward not one was returning.

O'erhead were revolving, so countless and bright,
The stars in melodious existence;
And with the moon, more serenely bedight,—
They sparkled so light,
In the night, in the night,
Through the magical, measureless distance.

And upward I gazed, in the night, in the night,
And again on the waves in their fleeting;
Ah woe! thou hast wasted thy days in delight,
Now silence thy light,
In the night, in the night,
The Remorse in thy heart that is beating.

THE CULTIVATION OF CRANBERRIES.—Whoever would grow cranberries successfully, must have a piece of ground that can be covered with water every winter, and will never be liable to be very dry in the summer. The vines are frequently met with on high land, in pastures, and by the roadside, but unless in a wet spot they do not thrive; they blossom abundantly, and sometimes bear heavy crops, but are more subject to the depredations of insects than are the vines on low land, and not being covered with water, are more apt to winter-kill. Some persons claim to be perfectly successful in raising cranberries on upland, but the evidence is not sufficient to warrant us in advising any one to invest money or time in that mode of culture.

The only suitable locations are, 1st, natural bogs or meadows; 2d, the shores of ponds; and 3d, intervales. The first are the best, and are oftenest found; the second do not often present sufficient width between the water and high ground; the third have not been well tested, so far as we know.

As to soil. The best basis is peat. Cranberries have been grown on a clay bottom, but we have no confidence in it. So with loam. In any soil suited to the growth of the grasses they will certainly seed in and embarrass the cranberry vines, and unless the ground is kept too wet for the fruitfulness of the vines, the grasses will be very likely to get the better of them. If either of these soils can be covered with pure sand, that may overcome all objections; but we do not know whether any one has found this successful. It is worth trying cautiously.

Cranberries grow naturally on a variety of soils, but we generally find them on soils consisting mostly of peat. Some cultivators profess to be able to raise them as well on pure peat as on any other soil, and large crops are sometimes obtained thus, but experience has shown beyond doubt that the addition of pure sand on the surface of peat has such a beneficial effect that it may be considered almost a necessity. Certainly if the soil contains much loam and clayey sediment washed from the upland, it must be covered with sand. If the sand is close at hand, it should by all means be put on, even if the meadow is pure peat; but it is so heavy that it will not pay to carry it far.

The presence in such position that it can be made to cover the plantation, at least during the winter, may be put down as indispensable. If it is impossible to flood the vines at will at any season, and in a few hours, this is so much the better, because then the water can be employed to kill insects in May and June, and to protect from early frosts in September. A brook running through the meadow will suffice for flowage in winter, and in general it would answer for flowing in May and June to kill insects, but would rarely furnish water enough in September to cover the vines with sufficient celerity to guard against frosts; for this frequently requires water to be raised over the vines in two or three hours time, and to be drawn off as quickly in the morning, so that the picking of the berries may proceed during the day. This can only be accomplished by having a reservoir above the meadow, from which the water can be let out through the wide gates upon the vines whenever wanted. A meadow situated just below the outlet of a natural pond has such reservoir ready made. An artificial reservoir can be made in many instances by throwing a dam across a valley.

Of equal importance with the ability to flood the meadow is the ability to drain it. Natural meadows that are covered by water in winter, are free from bushes, but covered with meadow grasses, or, more properly speaking with sedges. This is the situation in which the cranberry vine is found naturally growing, but it is not the situation best suited to the production of fruit. The extreme wetness is as favorable, to say the least, to the growth of sedges as of cranberry vines, and the latter have hard work to do to more than hold their own. If the vines had no such competitors, they would grow thicker, but would not be more than moderately productive. If now ditches are cut through such a meadow, and the water drawn down a few inches, there will be a perceptible decline in the vigor of the sedges and an improvement in both the growth and fruiting of the vines. If carried further still the draining ceases to encourage the luxuriance of the vines, but still favors greater fruitfulness; finally we reach a point where the growth of sedges is too feeble to embarrass the cranberries, the growth of the vine is only moderate, and the tendency to produce fruit is at a maximum. Experience so far seems to indicate that the best results are attained by making the surface of the meadow so dry that one can walk over it without wetting more than the sole of his shoes.

A cranberry plantation should be nearly on a level, for convenience in flowing. If the difference is great, it can frequently, as when situated in a sloping valley be divided into a number of separate levels, with a dike along the lower edge of each one, to retain the water; in flowing, the first level is first covered, and from this the surplus water flows upon the next level, and so on. But for flowing in winter, this device would not be often useful. The process of preparing a cranberry meadow is in brief this. First, if it is wet, drain it. Then remove all bushes, cut up the roots and turf, and get them out of the way. Then attend to the leveling. Next spread on several inches of clean sand. Finally set the vines without paying any attention to their roots, any way that you find it ... to get them partially under the surface. There are ... exceptional locations that can be prepared in exceptional modes. Some meadows can be prepared with the aid of the plow, some without removing the sod. [Maine Farmer.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

Manufactured by J. E. SPENCER & CO., New York, which are now offered to the public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the MOST PERFECT, Natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known.

They are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

The Scientific Principle on which they are constructed brings the core or centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.

They are mounted in the finest manner, in frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. Their finish and durability cannot be surpassed.

CAUTION.—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every frame.

ADDRESS

NERVOUS

DEBILITATED,

Whose sufferings have been protracted from hidden causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable: If you are suffering, or have suffered, from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? or does a thick scum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom, after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear of such men being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business, they never become sad and discouraged, they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic.
